We've all been to a Mass where the celebrant, just before the faithful stand to receive the final blessing, takes the time to thank those who have contributed to the liturgical celebration. The celebrant may applaud the organist, choir or altar servers. If it's Mother's Day, Father's Day or Veteran's Day, the celebrant may ask these members to stand and ask the congregation to applaud.

My children love it when this happens! "What?! We get to make noise in church?!" My son in particular goes overboard in his exuberance.

But is this sound liturgical practice? (pun intended). First, let me be clear that the intention of the celebrant IS pastorally sound. To make everyone feel welcomed and appreciated—including the ministers—is commendable and should be one of the goals of all pastors! However, should it take place during Mass?

Some say, "why not?" Don't the Psalms demand: "All you peoples, clap your hands; shout to God with joyful cries."—Psalm 41:7. At some of the children's Masses during the school year, clapping is sometimes included in the hymn. This type of clapping is an expression of worship and the hands are simply being used as percussion instruments.

The intended purpose of clapping at this time is praising God and I believe it to be in line with church documents. But does this provision include applauding the soloist who knocked the Ave Maria out of the park, the celebrant who gave a rousing homily or all the ministers who rehearsed tirelessly? I don't think so.

Mass is worship offered up to God. It is praise from us creatures to our Creator. Some describe it as a vertical movement—from us on earth towards heaven. For us Catholics, our worship, and especially the Mass, is not entertainment for the assembly. When we applaud the soloist, choir or acolytes, the vertical movement is replaced with a horizontal one. The wrong axis is emphasized — applause focuses attention on us rather than God.

As we have said, the Mass is not a show and the ministers are not performers to be critiqued (favorably or unfavorably) by the assembly. This is not to say that we do not appreciate the choir, soloist, acolytes, lectors, celebrant, etc. We most definitely do. The question is if the Mass is the right time to express that gratitude. I say no as do two Popes:

"It is not fitting to applaud the servant in the house of his Master."—Pope St. Pius X

"Wherever applause breaks out in the liturgy because of some human achievement, it is a sure sign that the essence of liturgy has totally disappeared and been replaced by a kind of religious entertainment."—Cardinal Ratzinger, before becoming Pope Benedict XVI

At Seven Dolors, we are very blessed with some excellent musicians. You may personally thank them from time to time for their disciplined preparation. But in light of what is said is above, I ask that you refrain from spontaneous clapping.

Fr. Kerry Ninemire

Prayer for Ordinary Time

God of Eternity,

As I walk the path of Ordinary Time, help me to count the many ways you are present ~ in the comings and goings of family, friends, coworkers, and acquaintances;

in the sounds of summer and the beauty of your magnificent creation;

in the daily routines and responsibilities that make up the rhythm of my days.

Make all time extra-ordinary as I seek to become more attuned to your presence.

Amen.

Ordinary Time is a time for growth and maturation, a time in which the mystery of Christ is called to penetrate ever more deeply into history until all things are finally caught up in Christ. The goal, toward which all of history is directed, is represented by the final Sunday in Ordinary Time, the Solemnity of Our Lord Jesus Christ, King of the Universe.
